“ Dear Daniel, I didn't know you in person, but I know your daughter Teresa. She told me about you, and I could follow you last years true her. I was happy with you waving at me... I know it wasn't for me alone. We were following you with a group of people... you didn't make it easy on Theresa. But she lived you unconditionally. She took care of you and because of her you could live longer then if you had take care of yourself. She took care of you as a mother takes care of her son. I know it must have been hard for you, to lose bit by bit your abilities. But you had an angel at your side who did everything possible so you should live a day longer and with some quality. You must be so grateful you had her by your side. Now Daniel, I hope you take care for Theresa now somewhere in the afterlife. She deserve it. She was your loyal daughter until the end. You could count on her for everything. She fought for you like a tiger for her cub. She wanted you had the best care and was treated with respect. Thanks to her the hospitalstaff, took good care of you.

Dear Daniel. I wish I knew you better. But your daughter I do know. She was your angel, your caretaker, your servant, your everything in the last months. And I know you are grateful that she took care of you. Now I hope there will be rest in your life now. That you are free and pain-free and can breath and be happy again.

Theresa, there will be a large black hole now coming towards you. As your life was all in function of your dad. It will be hard to find a new way of life without your dad in it. I am here for you. Only a phonecall away. You are a strong, talented woman. You will find your way in life. I am sure about it. It will hurt, you will miss the man you took care for. You will have loads of time to spend. Know your are not alone. You are a strong and independent woman. You will find a way... and be sure, your dad will always be with you. Same as your mom. Big hugs, Malika from far far away country Belgium. I am here for you... hang in there sister. Big hugs...
